Nancy, Jeff,

Jeff, you were the original person I had been told might be the ideal candidate to provide support for this briefing. If there is a better person in your office, please let me know. However, if it is you, would you please let me know today what your availability is for Friday afternoon and Thursday, so we can coordinate with the hill? As mentioned, you would be in a question answering role.

Thanks,

Christian Rodrick

Yes thank you Jennifer, that is my understanding for the content of the briefing.

Also yes, it would be extremely helpful to know who from each program office is appropriate and available as soon as possible so we can coordinate on scheduling with the hill. Thank you all for getting back to me with the appropriate individual from your staff and their availability.

Please give me a call if anyone has any questions. Thanks,

Thank you Christian. My understanding from our brief conversation on Friday is that OCIR's plan is to use a multi-program approach to these briefings.

Using the materials developed for the roll-out, my staff is developing a standard briefing on the Action Plan. I would go through the briefing and then, along with a representative from each office, we would address questions.

It would be helpful to know today who from OLEM, OECA, OCSPP and ORD will be at the briefing so that we can coordinate materials.

Please let me know if this description of the plan is in accordance with your thinking.

Jennifer

Good Morning All,

As many of you know, OCIR is planning to offer multiple in person briefings for Congressional staff on the PFAS Action Plan.

The House Energy and Commerce Committee (EPA's primary committee of jurisdiction,) has requested a briefing on Friday afternoon. They are then willing to host a broader Capitol Hill briefing for any house staff interested in the subject. My hope is that we could offer to brief E&C on Friday at 1:00PM or 1:30PM and then the same staff could brief the wider House group at 2:00PM or 2:30PM. While I understand getting this many individuals to be able to go to the Hill at the same time is difficult, it is important the appropriate individuals from each of your office are able to make times work.

Additionally we will need to offer the Senate EPW committee. While Tony is the lead on scheduling that, I know there are times that might work on Thursday or the following week.

Jennifer from OW has already noted that she believes her team could make Friday work. Please let me know if you believe there are any issues your folks may not be able to do so, and I appreciate your flexibility on getting this scheduled.

Thank you,

Christian Rodrick
